DIRECTOR OF INSTRUCTION

Golf Magazine Top 100 Instructor

E.A. Tischler was born in Sunnyvale, CA and attended UCSD where he finished his senior year as the Number #1 Player, Team Captain and was a member of the school's Athletic Council. While at UCSD he pursued degrees in Philosophy, Economics and Psychology. In 1989 he turned professional and has been playing and coaching ever since. As a player he honed his skills to a +4.5 handicap, compiled 10 hole-in-ones, 2 double eagles, set over 20 course records, and won 30+ professional tournaments. He has self-published 28 golf instructional books, invented and patented a variety of golf training aids, and has helped dozens of golfers achieve their goals of playing professional golf. Before joining The Woodlands CC as the Director of Instruction E.A. was the Director of Instruction for Olympia Fields CC outside of Chicago for 11 years, 3 years at Inverness Club in Toledo Ohio as the Director of Instruction, and spent 25 years coaching Hawaii, California and abroad. E.A. has been a Golf Magazine Top 100 Instructor since 2015, 2017-18 Golf Digest Top 50 Instructor, is on Golf Digest's Best Teachers in State lists annually, and is a PGA Tour Coach having coached players to 50+ professional wins. Throughout his career he has worked with players like Dean Wilson, Perter Jacobsen, Stan Utley, Tom Pernice Jr, Brandt Jobe and many more. He also coached Scott McCarron to the 2019 Charles Schwab Cup season long championship.

As a professional coach he has dedicated his career and life to the game of golf in the quest for providing all golfers the tools they need to Own their swings and their games. Throughout that process he founded the New Horizons Golf Approach, BioSwing Coaching and developed the Power-of-3 Golf Biomechanics System which he introduced in his Secrets of Owning Your Swing book series. His short game and scoring approach is called the Fore54 Scoring System through which each player learns their own best way to play the game. He has also been an Inner Game Coach throughout his whole career having been mentored by Fred Shoemaker (Founder of Extraordinary Golf). Among the Top 100 Instructor community E.A. is known by many as "The Pro's Pro" because of how many coaches he has mentored and how many of them seek his knowledge regarding best practices and the science of the game. He is known to be one of the most energetic and enthusiastic coaches in the game. He believes improving is the standard and to do so we must be committed to continually learning. Lastly, he is always willing to share his knowledge with coaches and students.

HEAD COACH

Johnny Montes is a dedicated golf instructor who specializes in club-focused instruction and performance-based player development. He is Club Focused Certified and Scott Cowx Level 2 Certified, with a teaching foundation influenced by MORAD, Stack & Tilt, and The Golfing Machine. While his certifications are in club-focused methodologies, his instruction integrates the core principles of these systems to help players understand how the club works and how to produce reliable ball flight.

Johnny's coaching philosophy centers on helping golfers build solid contact, improved distance, and control of shot shape, while learning to adapt their skills to the demands of the golf course. His lessons are clear, structured, and tailored to the individual, making complex ideas simple and actionable. He works comfortably with juniors and adults of all ages and regularly teaches elementary-age golfers (K–5), middle school players, and adults over 50 who want to play better, score lower, and enjoy the game more. Johnny is one of The Woodlands CC Head Coaches for the Junior Masters Developmental programs, being a primary organizer for the K-5 programs along with Joyce Trus. Johnny is especially known for creating a positive learning environment where players feel seen, supported, and confident in their development—whether they are new to the game or striving for higher performance.

HEAD COACH

Kuniko was born and raised in Japan. After college she worked for 14 years for one of Japan's leading trading companies, where she was introduced to golf and fell in love with the game. After moving to San Diego, CA she began working at a golf shop while going back to school at UCSD. Though working at the golf shop started as a part-time job her love for the game and passion for the golf industry led her to work full-time in the golf industry. As that passion grew, she started competing in women's groups and local amateur events. After finishing 3rd in one of the local amateur events, she decided to pursue a career in coaching by joining the LPGA and becoming an LPGA Class-A Certified Teaching Professional.

In 2008 she joined LPGA Membership and earned Class-A Teaching Professional status in 2011. Throughout Kuniko's teaching career she had the pleasure of doing so abroad, giving lessons in Japan, Hawaii, California, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and now currently in Texas.

Her coaching philosophy is very simple, "Have Fun". Lessons are organized to be enjoyable, while filled with laughter and new experiences! At the same time, she wants her students to develop fundamentally sound techniques while making sure the swing mechanics fit the individual's specific body type and athletic needs. Her approach minimizes the use of technical words, while focusing on natural athletic motion. She believes learning to swing freely, athletically and in one's natural rhythm are keys to playing the game well while enjoying the journey.

STAFF COACH

Addison grew up in Massachusetts before moving to South Carolina to study Professional Golf Management and earn a master's degree in business from Coastal Carolina University. As a decorated junior golfer, Addison won several New England PGA junior events and qualified for multiple NEPGA Junior Tour Championships based on season-long performance. He led his high school as a two-year captain while earning League and District All-Star awards for top finishes in District and State Championships. In college, Addison had one collegiate victory and qualified for the West Virginia Open. Now as a PGA professional, he continues to compete in the Southern Texas PGA section. Addison's coaching philosophy revolves around consistent address and impact positions. He believes there's more than one way to swing the club because everybody's physical capabilities are incredibly different. As long as impact is repeatable and swing thoughts are simple, everyone can build their own unique swing.

Addison's favorite thing to teach is short game because of the creativity it requires. He combines Trackman data with video analysis to help you understand your swing and develop a clear, lasting path forward to better golf.
